

CONTRIBUTORS

Irmi Hoppenrath was one of the charter students enrolled in Cariboo College's first year. She emigrated from Germany after the Second World War, and raised her children to high-school age before attending Cariboo. Last year, upon completion of her second year at the College, Mrs. Hoppenrath received the Governor General's Medal for highest standing in the University Transfer Program. Mrs. Hoppenrath is now working toward her undergraduate degree at Simon Fraser University. The cartography for her paper was done by J.E. Millu, a geography instructor at Cariboo College.

Dan Varnals was born in England and attended one of the early free schools in that country. Since emigrating to Canada, Dan has taught evening art courses in the Trail Public Schools and is employed in the Zinc Plant at Cominco. He is also enrolled in the second year of the University College program at Selkirk College, with a long term goal of a Fine Arts degree.

T.M. Blake is a first year student at Cariboo College. A native of Kamloops, Mike has done archaeological work in the Thompson Valley area. The results of his research are on display in the Kamloops Museum. Mike spent the last year travelling throughout the African continent. He plans to major in archaeology after completing another year at Cariboo College. The cartography for his paper was completed as a project in his introductory Geography course.