

I don't agree with everything that happens in the Soviet Union - but nor do I agree with the govt of the US, nor our own for that matter.

Women and Peace.

Women and Peace. Where to start? First off, I'm ~~not~~ going to assume that readers subscribe to the need for disarmament. Anyone willing to argue that point better wait contact me and I'll do that personally.

It's a huge problem - so big that most of us choose to avoid it - the old stick your head in the sand syndrome. The peace movement in Kamloops has been in place since 1980. ~~Since that time, the walk for peace has grown from 10-15 indiv. to over 500 last year.~~ We have, ^{walked for peace,} had conferences and workshops, protested cruise missile testing, had a cable 10 program, put out a bimonthly newsletter,

protested the bombing of Hiroshima, ^{collected tolls for reds}
and formed an ad-hoc committee
to paint shadows on the sidewalk.

What have we achieved? Certainly a higher profile, controversial or not.

The Walk for Peace has grown from 10-15 indiv. to over 500 last year.

Kamloops ~~is~~ is now a nuclear free zone
(although the Verlikon affair has now shown us that a late night meeting with the right people can reverse that.)
