

The Cariboo College Communicator

Here we are folks

WELCOME to the first edition of Cariboo College's "Communicator". We will be publishing on a regular monthly basis and will be featuring people and events on campus. Your input is very welcome.

We will be talking to faculty and staff campus-wide and will have a regular column from our Williams Lake campus, the outlying regional centres and the MILE vans.

The "Name the Newsletter" contest closed on June 16. Thank you all for your contributions and suggestions. After much deliberation, the Selection Committee, comprised of Charles Brewster, Bill Brown and Shelley Stokstad, chose "Communicator" and we are happy to award the prize of a Dinner for Two at the College Dining Room to Barb Chmilar, Lloyd Howard and Scott Mann, all of whom had the same suggestions. Congratulations to all three!

The main objective of this newsletter is to keep the College Community informed about all that is happening at Cariboo College.

On Page 4 a regular item will be the monthly Calendar of Events and other information items. A similar Calendar of Events appears on the College's computer system. It is called INFO and is accessible to users of both the VAX 780 and 750.

On Page 3 of this edition, you will find an initial draft statement of Cariboo College's Goals and Objectives and the Executive's Statement of Commitment: Challenge: Change.

This follows the workshop held on June 11 & 12 and attended by the Executive, directors, chairpersons and managers during which a commitment to the institution and all who are involved with it was made.

Cariboo Business Centre Opens

The Cariboo Business Development Centre was officially inaugurated on Thursday, July 3.

It is located upstairs at the Old Firehall, 125 Fourth Avenue, and shares office facilities with the Kamloops Chamber of Commerce and the Thompson Nicola Manufacturers Association.

The Centre was officially opened by Mayor Jim Walsh, and Nelson Riis, MP, was also in attendance. A wine and cheese reception followed the official ceremonies and this was very well attended by College staff members as well as local business and community representatives.

Ken Danchuk, Manager of the C.B.D.C., and Shirley Culver, Administrative Assistant, were pleased with the very positive reaction from business leaders in the community and extend an open invitation to those staff members who have not yet had an opportunity to visit the location.

The Cariboo Business Development Centre will provide a readily accessible facility which will assist newly established businesses as well as prospective new businesses in their establishment, development and growth in the Kamloops region.

President's Report

I am delighted to welcome all readers to our new newsletter the "Communicator". As you know, the recent Institutional Self-Study placed great importance on internal communications.

Through the newsletter, we will be reporting progress towards implementation of the various recommendations of both the external team's report and the internal study. We will begin our response by issuing a revised Mission and Goals Statement for Cariboo College.

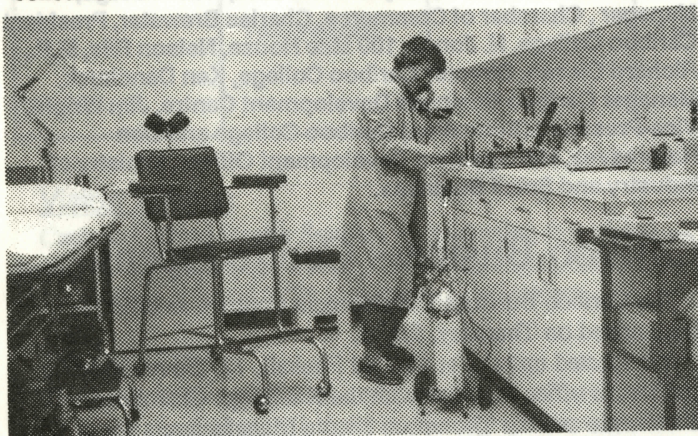

After discussion, debate and adoption through the policy mechanism, the Mission Statement will provide a context in which the various other recommendations may be weighed and actioned with or without modification.

I look forward to meeting with many of you in the fall to discuss the new Mission Statement.

Letters Welcomed

New this year, beginning in September, will be a weekly time set aside by President Charles Brewster who will be available one afternoon a week between 4:00 & 5:00pm during which he will be pleased to meet privately, over a cup of coffee, with students, faculty and staff members who have suggestions or concerns.

Your letters will appear under "Beefs & Bouquets" and we certainly welcome your submissions and suggestions or concerns.

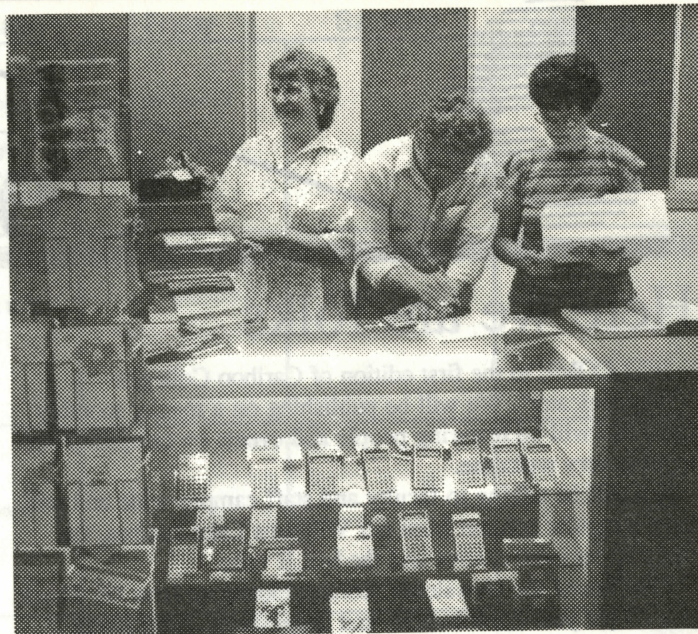

Occupational Health Officer, Elizabeth Biagioni, in the expanded Health Services Clinic.

Health Services Expand

The College's Health Services Clinic, located in the Vocational Wing of the College's Main Building, has been enlarged and renovated in order to provide better first-aid and health services to students and staff.

This new 636 sq.ft. facility, for which the College received special funding, is a modern two-room clinic with a pleasant waiting area.

Beginning in September, Dr. G. Schumacher will be holding regular office hours on campus for those students and staff members who may wish to consult him. Appointments may be made by calling E. Biagioni at Local 2126.

Bookstore Staff members Marion Gadsen and Donna deMarni with Manager, Brian Mitchell finalizing the setting up of the new Bookstore.

Book Store Relocated

The College Bookstore has been relocated to the Vocational Wing of the College's Main Building. This newly renovated 1728 sq.ft. facility provides more efficient service to its customers and Brian Mitchell says, "Yes, It's true. It's really happened at last! Come up and see us sometime!"

Faces and Places

Paul Egan has been appointed Director, Sciences and Health Sciences Division, following the appointment of David Cane as Vice-President, Administrative Services. Wayne Hollingshead is the new Chairperson of Agriculture Related Programs.

Cliff Neufeld has been appointed Director, Financial Services. Linda Walch will take on the duties of Confidential Secretary to the Director of Financial Services upon her return from vacation August 1.

Also on returning from vacation, Pat Howe will take up her duties as Confidential Secretary. Pat will be providing secretarial assistance to the Personnel Department as well as the Communications & Information Processing Department. Both the Personnel Department and Communications & Information Department are now located on the 3rd Floor.

David Fox resigned his position as Director of Learning Resources in order to take up his duties as Systems Librarian at the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon on August 1.

Following 12 years at Cariboo College, Merle Lilly has resigned her position as Cashier. Merle was given a good send-off and we all wish her well in her move to Vancouver.

Connie der Housoff retired in June, 1986, after 8 years of service at Cariboo College. Connie was Guest of Honour at a luncheon in the College Dining Room given by the instructors in the Vocational Division.

COMMITMENT: CHALLENGE: CHANGE

Our College is now 16 years old. During that time, through our delivery of educational services, we have challenged and brought about change in the lives of many thousands of students. This has been possible through the commitment of our staff to providing quality experiences, often in the face of considerable challenge.

We believe in a vision of Cariboo College as an institution COMMITTED to CHALLENGING and CHANGING the lives of all who are involved with it: our community, our students and our staff. We believe that by challenging ourselves and our students, we can enrich and empower one another. We believe that this concept can build on the recent Institutional Evaluation, and carry us through into the 1990s. We say that without the commitment of our staff and our students to constantly challenge their own limitations, there can be no change; and without change, there is no growth and no education.

We are committed to changing this vision into reality. But we cannot do this alone. It will take the commitment of all our staff. Just as we have a responsibility to provide clear, consistent and concise leadership, we ask each one of you to recognize that the College exists only through the actions of its staff. We ask you to commit to shaping your actions to further the development of our College towards the principles of COMMITMENT, CHALLENGE and CHANGE

Mission Statement

"CHALLENGING YOU TO CHANGE"

The mission of Cariboo College is to empower and enrich the lives of its clients through education. As a dynamic social institution, the College is committed to change in response to the evolving needs of its individual clients and their communities.

It offers challenging experiences to its students delivered in flexible and collaborative ways in a variety of settings and formats. By so doing, it enriches the social, intellectual, cultural, economic and recreational development of its students and the communities it serves.

Cariboo College's clients are drawn from our geographic region, the province, the nation and selectively from international locations. The College values, not only the range of its geographic mandate, but also the diversity of its clients' backgrounds and needs. The College recognizes the legitimacy of a wide range of personal goals in education and strives to challenge each and every student in the pursuit of his or her objectives.

To respond to its clients, Cariboo College is committed to continuous renewal through change. By means of regular self-study, planning and consultation with its constituents, the College continues to adapt to its environment.

Committed to experiment, to evaluate and to refine its programs of study, its teaching strategies and its management techniques, the College strives to respond to the challenge of change through meaningful organizational transformation.

The commitment of Cariboo College to its mission is pursued through specific goals. These goals are reviewed annually and communicated to the College by the Board.

Williams Lake News

J. McKee, Williams Lake Campus Director, says that the staff at the Williams Lake campus is settling into the new campus facility and plans are well under way for the new semester in September.

Jerry tells us that registration for the first-time full-time University Transfer programs is exceeding their expectations. He adds that, as a result of the commitment on the part of Cariboo College to offer a first year University Transfer program to include the Sciences as well as the arts, he is very pleased that Gordon Eekman will be joining the Williams Lake campus staff as a full-time instructor for Computer Science, Mathematics and Biology.

Computer Camps in both Williams Lake and 100 Mile House are progressing during July and August.

Al Hneeda, who was the tutor on the MILE (South) van last year is returning to instruct at the Williams Lake campus.

The Cariboo College Communicator is published monthly and is distributed free of charge to faculty and staff.

Vision Testing

Cariboo College Health Services is conducting free vision testing for all employees working on VDTs. Please contact the nurse's office at Local 2126 to make an appointment.

Fitness Trail

The earth moving project is now complete. For those who wish to use the fitness trail, there is now a gravelled access road on the north side. Follow this to the practice field (far one), turn right and this meets up with the original fitness trail.

Library News

The catalogue of the Open University Film Collection (684) has just been completed and will be ready for circulation in time for the Fall Semester.

The library has 'In Search of Excellence' and 'Team Building' in VHS format for home viewing.

Other Dates

Third Annual Computer Camp for Kids 9 am to Noon in Room 146 July 14-18, July 21-25 and July 28-August 1.
Interior School of Music 9am to 3 pm July 14-August 1.

Bouquets

Y. Merzisen is pleased to announce that in his department, Merit Awards were granted to David Ranson (English) and Reg McNamara (A.B.E.) Yves also informs us that Will Garret-Petts will be on a two-year leave of absence to obtain his Ph.D. from the University of Alberta. Will and Nancy are pleased to announce the birth of their first child, Kate Marie, on May 14.

The Communication Arts Department is already organizing a Writers' Workshop for the summer of 1987 and it hopes to attract outstanding writers such as Margaret Atwood, June Callwood and Bill Deverell. Cariboo College instructor, Joan Weir, has agreed to coordinate this event.

Bill Walton has informed us that the animated video made by the students in the Digital Arts and Design program was a "show stopper" at the articulation meeting in Vancouver in June.

John Cooper is also justifiably proud of a promotional tape made by one of his graduating students from the CMMD program.
