FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

A CAREER IN MEDICINE

KAMLOOPS – UCC Bachelor of Science graduate Rob Colistro will be at UCC Sept. 27 from noon to 2 PM to discuss ladderling from science programs to medical school.

Colistro obtained his degree in chemistry before enrolling in medical school at UBC and is currently a neurosurgery resident at Vancouver General Hospital.

He will be joined by his colleague Adele Schroeder, who also attended UCC for two years before transferring to UBC to complete her Bachelor of Science degree in cell biology and genetics. Schroeder is in a family medicine residency program at UBC after finishing medical school in 2000.

This is the second year Colistro has made a presentation to UCC students. He will cover topics including application to medical school, UBC admission requirements and UCC equivalents, what the medical school experience is like and what options are available after medical school.

Colistro's talk will be in Room S373 of the Health and Science Building. For more information, please contact Linda Underwood, administrative assistant, Science division, at 371-5747.
